1754. SHRI RAM AWADHESH SINGH: Will the Minister of URBAN DEVELOPMENT be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government's attention has been drawn to the newsitem appeared in the Hindustan Times dated the 17th October, 1988 to the effect that despite heavy rains, floods and over supply of water, Delhi citizens are not getting water supply as before, leading to installation and use of water pumps in every home resulting in heavy drain on limited electric supply and avoidable expenditure;

(b) if so, the details thereof; and

(c) whether Government propose to stop this vicious cycle; and if necessary, revamp the water supply set up at the earliest and restore normalcy?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF URBAN DEVELOPMENT (SHRI DALBIR SINGH): (a) to (c) No such news has come to the notice of the Government. However, it is not correct that Delhi is not getting water supply as before. Delhi did face water shortage during the summer of 1988 due to severe drought conditions causing less regeneration of water in the Yamuna river. Since the onset of monsoon in July, 1988, there has been no shortage of raw water and normal water supply has been restored in all such areas which are served by the Municipal Water Supply.
